ting a perfect cure after every other means has failed of giving any relief. Desperate cases best display its virtues.

myll 8m JANION RHODES & CO.

Saturday Morning, May 29, 1869.

It is gratifying to learn that sugar and tobacco are firm. It implies that the great holders have used the telegraph profitably and that the Cuban fiasco has answered their purpose. How far such a mode of making money is consistent with moral principles, these "smart men" do not stop to enquire. If we could only form an estimate of the amounts realised and expended in the speculation, we should be better able to appreciate the advantages of the latest style of raising the markets. Some censorious people might think it shockingly cruel to hurl bloodshed and desolation upon an unoffending people, in order to realize a few thousand dollars by the transaction; but then these are old fogies that go to church and believe in their Bible. We suspect at the present moment most people find it rather difficult to judge how matters stand in Cuba. In the course of a week we have a Cuban Republic with Quesada at its head, and the island nearly cleared of the Spaniards; and then we have the insurgents routed, their guns all captured and Quesada shot; Cepedes, we presume, having taken to his legs. The readers of these items of news would laugh no doubt if it did not occur to them that meanwhile a system of the most horrible butchery that ever disgraced the annals of any country other than Dahomey, is being carried on by the contending parties; that towns are being sacked and reduced to ashes, and helpless women and children driven from their homes to die in the woods for want of food and shelter. African savages, hitherto slaves, are being bounded on to the most horrible crimes, revolting to every feeling of humanity. And why all this havoc? To enhance the price of sugar and tobacco! Ladies who sweeten their tea little think that

It is not sugar they're putting in, But human creatures' lives. Shade of Hood, forgive us for the liberty we take with your lives; but the temptation is too great, and they come so readily to our memory. But the subject is too serious for joking, and will involve a terrible retribution some day. Such crimes are never committed with impunity as now stain the fertile fields and hitherto peaceful and flourishing towns of Cuba. The mark is indecibly fixed in history that will form a terrible record against the perpetrators. It is said we live in an enlightened age; perhaps we do; but if rapine and murder are the results of our attainments, people may well be pardoned for doubting their value. Sir Humphrey Davy once said that what we are gaining in breadth we are losing in depth. There may be some truth in the aphorism; we commend it to the study of those who are neither interested in sugar nor tobacco. There is one thing clear, the raids of worthless blackguards upon helpless and inoffensive communities must be stopped. It is not a question for this nation or that, but a matter that interests the whole of Christendom. Such diabolical proceedings have been permitted to take place quite often enough, in all conscience, and a united action on the parts of all governments pretending to any respect for the comity of nations, must be adopted for its repression. A crusade has been made against piracy and slavery; filibusterism must be put down in like manner.

MANY of our readers may perhaps be aware that in government, as in everything else, there is a large amount of clap-net. Thus, when a new tax is sought to be imposed, some prominent member of the party in power immediately makes a warlike speech, which others on the same side support; and the leader of the party makes a long oration, which may be taken for endorsement or opposition, as the minister may afterwards find it to his interest to make it appear. In this way Mr. Sumner's speech on the Alabama claims has answered its purpose; how, the Secretary of the Treasury might perhaps be able to answer; but as we cannot put him in the witness-box, we can only conjecture. Whatever the object in view, it has probably been attained, as the Senate is now busily engaged in throwing Mr. Sumner overboard, and have detailed Mr. Butler to do it. Were the Americans not the most unsophisticated people in the world they would easily penetrate the very thin veil that covers the hocus-pocus of government tactics. Butler and Sumner being well known to be playing in the game for the same party ends, Sumner gets up and says that the paltry sum of the claims actually stated to be due on the depositions by the Alabama, do not form the tithe of what England owes to the United States. That in consequence of the former country having recognized the belligerency of the South, the war was protracted and the cost increased to an extent that no thirteen or fifteen millions, increased tenfold, would repay. This having rested a sufficient time before the lens of the lantern of American opinion, (a number of disagreeable reflections in the shape of the Fenian raid claim, the Papineau rebellion claim, and numerous lesser lights, having somewhat dimmed its brilliancy) the slide of General Butler is substituted by which it is shown that there is a very grave doubt existing as to whether England is at all to blame in the matter, the Federal Government itself having admitted the belligerency for which it was proposed to hold England accountable. All this is dreadfully like a penny show, and certainly not the kind of diplomacy we should look for from a great nation like the United States. If, however, it pleases the people who pay so dearly for it, we don't see what difference it can make to us. The English people, the people of this Colony, and the people of the United States, understand each other very well; it may be that we should like to see our relatives in better hands; that we would rather believe them what we thought of them in years gone by—the most successful Republic that the world ever saw. But alas! for human frailty; a Republic, the most beautiful and perfect government ever dreamed of, is too perfect for the present age, even with all its wonderful enlightenment; we shall have to wait another thousand years and by that time all public officers will be models of virtue, and will seek only the advancement and prosperity of the nation they are called upon to serve. Presidents will then be nothing less than saints, and office-seekers will have disappeared from the scene. Until that time shall come, we had better try such governments as give security to life and property, and the nearest approach to justice. There are certainly none of the existing government infallible, but there are some that are better than others, and they are certainly not Republics. Some factitious individual has suggested the idea that we were "sandwiched" by the United States; perhaps we are, and if so, we form the meat.

How to do it.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST.—Your morning cotemporary, in a paroxysm of toadyism, recommends the cultivation of more friendly relations between the people of the United States and those of British Columbia, and deprecates the tone assumed by the independent position of our press in dealing with American affairs, which is very good advice; but, then, the editor, in the same issue, publishes Mr. Gal's speech on the Alabama claims—a speech abounding in bitterness and gall against the American Government, and calculated to create undying prejudice against American citizens. In his Tuesday's issue the same editor, frantically announces that Mr. George Francis Train has met with an enthusiastic reception at San Francisco and is organizing the Fenians with a view to a raid upon British Columbia, without any interference on the part of the authorities or deprecatory remarks upon the part of the California press.

I would suggest that, if your cotemporary seriously desires to witness good feeling cultivated between the two nationalities, he should refrain from the publication of sensational speeches by Canadian politicians and alarming paragraphs about the designs of the Fenian invaders, who are allowed to utter threats and form their plans against us in violation of international law and courtesy upon American soil.

Yours, &c.,
JOHN BULL.

"Counting Chickens before they are hatched."

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST.—Your neighbor, the Columbian of to-day, not only convicts the Indian prisoners now on trial before the Supreme Court of murder, but goes further—he indicates the place where they shall be executed. I was aware that a portion of the press on this coast were too prone to prejudice the cases of persons on trial for high crimes; but this is the first instance, I believe, wherein an editor has combined the duties of Judge with those of Executioner. Should he succeed in uniting the two professions, he may effect considerable saving, but he will take the bread out of the mouth of CALCRAFT.

Protecting Animals in Stormy Weather.

Farmers, generally, do not appreciate the loss sustained in the condition and health of domestic animals by their exposure to cold rains and storms. Most animals can endure severe cold as long as they can keep dry, but their bodies becoming wet, and kept wet, evaporation commences, which carries off heat rapidly, and they are soon chilled through and through. This almost always deranges health, and most especially with mitch cows, which are less vigorous and less able to resist sudden changes from heat to cold than stock not devoted to the dairy. Most of our domestic animals will endure sudden changes from cold to heat with impunity, but the opposite is often attended with very injurious consequences. Again, even if the health of the animals is not seriously impaired, a large quantity of food will be required to sustain the heat thus lost, or there must be necessarily a waste of flesh. On the score of economy in food, to say nothing of deranged health, it will be cheaper to house cattle from cold storms and from wet, whether it be falling rain or snow. A certain amount of food is required to keep up the temperature of the body, and in extreme cold weather the appetite is much sharper than in mild weather. The extra food ordinarily used in cold weather is not employed for laying up flesh but is consumed to make heat. It is this principle which renders it more difficult and more expensive to fatten animals in winter than in warm weather.

Nothing pays better than care and attention to stock during the winter, and if a saving is to be made both in food and health, all storms and sudden changes of temperature must be guarded against as far as possible.—Massachusetts Ploughman.

65,000 NEW BRICKS

Of the Best Quality,

Court of Assize and General Gaol Delivery.

[BEFORE CHIEF JUSTICE NEEDHAM.]

Friday, May 28, 1869.

The Court met at 11 o'clock. Capt. Edye, R. N., and Rev. Mr. Hayman occupied seats upon the Bench.

The evidence of Hesquiat was resumed—Saw neither the man nor the woman alive; did not see the bodies until a long time afterwards.

Capt. Christensen (chinook interpreter), was placed in the box by the prosecution.

Mr. Hebbard, a jurymen, said that in his and in the opinion of three jury the Indians ought to be represented by counsel; and that Capt. Christensen being an important witness for the prosecution, was not the proper person to act as interpreter.

The Chief Justice said that the observation with regard to counsel was a good one, although the Court had been acting in a double capacity since the case commenced—watching the case for the prisoner as well as the Crown. He would be only too glad to assign counsel to the prisoners. With regard to Capt. Christensen, the Court would judge as to the extent that his evidence was prejudiced by the fact of his having acted as interpreter.

Hon. Mr. Wood was assigned as counsel for the prisoners and the case proceeded.

Capt. Christensen detailed the circumstances attending his visit to the village and finding the wreck, also, recovering from the Indians several articles taken from the wreck by them; he saw the skeleton of the woman; it was lying above high water mark; the long black hair lay alongside of the skull to which it was not attached; I only judge the skeleton was that of a woman by the length of the hair and the smallness of the skull; saw part of the skeleton of what I supposed to have been a man lying on the beach not far from the woman; the skull was detached from the body; had a conversation with John respecting the wreck; at first he told me that no bodies had come ashore from the wreck and then he said that if there were any bodies he did not know it; after I returned from the wreck I had another conversation with him; I asked him why he told me there were no dead bodies when I went out myself and found one; he said he didn't know and didn't care; have always been upon good terms with John and the tribe.

Cross-examined by Mr Wood for the defence—Have been trading four years on the Coast; John has a hard name among the Indians; they say he is a bad Indian; politically he opposes the Chief; there are two parties in the tribe; he was a slave at Cape Flattery; the parties who believe in him call him their tyhee; Matakia (the first witness called) is a Hysquiat Indian; he does not seem to be mixed up in the tribe quarrels; the other witnesses is a brother of the chief of the tribe; when I returned a third time to the wreck I found five bodies; four of these bodies I could not tell whether they were white or not; the fifth was that of a large white man; they were all lying on the beach; all the bodies were naked except one, which had the drawers on; the heads were all off and I saw now signs of them anywhere.

To the Court—The bodies were lying at high water mark; three Indians helped me to carry the remains into the bush where I buried them; the place where I found these bodies I went over on the occasion of my first visit; the bodies were not then there; I am quite sure if they had been there I should have seen them.

To Mr Wood—When I went up in the Sparrowhawk we found some things belonging to the wreck in the Chief's house; the Chief told us to send for Matakia; the Chief said Matakia saw John shoot the woman; other Indians said they saw the shots fired.

The learned Counsel for the defence continued for some time to rigidly cross-examine the witness, with a view to establish that John, being unpopular with the tribe, had been put forward as a scapegoat so that more guilty ones might escape.

Frederick Williams proved to having served the subpoena on Dr. Comrie five minutes before the ship sailed.

His Lordship ordered Dr. Comrie to be called in and out of Court, after which a case for contempt would be made out. Dr. Comrie was duly called but of course did not respond.

The Attorney General proposed to call a witness who was present at the exhumation of the bodies, but His Lordship deemed the witness entirely inadmissible until the medical evidence had been obtained. The life of an Indian, so far as justice was concerned, was equally valuable with that of a white man, and the life of the prisoner at the bar was in peril; hence the non-attendance of the medical man who could have testified to the appearance of the bodies was irreparable.

His Lordship would postpone the case until the conclusion of all the others. The High Sheriff was called upon to take charge of the jury, but being absent was sent for, his deputy acting meanwhile.

His Lordship proposed that another surgeon be dispatched to the scene of the murders, but the Attorney General objected that any gentleman would undertake the task at the peril of his life from the Indians. His Lordship suggested that the Government was armed with the power of the law and ought to be able to protect him.

The under Sheriff being sworn the jury was placed under his charge until the arrival of the High Sheriff.

ENTICING SAILORS TO DESERT.
Mr. McCreight appeared for the prisoner Wm. Anderson, put in a demurrer to the effect that by the 17 and 18 Vict. chap. 54, sect on 257 a penalty of £10 was inflicted for enticing merchant sailors to desert; he argued that in such cases the penalty only could be recovered; he quoted several precedents in support of this view. He held that the offense with which the prisoner was charged was not an indictable one.

His Lordship decided to postpone the case till 11 o'clock to-morrow morning in order to consider the points raised.

The jury on the Indian John being asked if they could come to a conclusion without the evidence of Dr. Comrie, having answered in the negative, were discharged until further notice.

The Court adjourned until to-day at 11 o'clock.

PROGRESS STATED.—It will be observed by our Assize Court report that the case for the prosecution in the matter of the West Coast Indians charged with murder, has been laid over to await the return of Dr. Comrie, Surgeon of H. M. S. Sparrowhawk, who, although subpoenaed, subsequently started North in his ship. It will be borne in mind that the doctor examined the bodies discovered at Hysquiat, and his evidence is therefore important as bearing upon the manner in which the unfortunate people came to their death. At the suggestion of Mr. Hebbard, one of the jury, Hon. T. Wood was assigned as counsel for the defence.

KENNEDY'S SCOTTISH ENTERTAINMENTS.—The San Francisco News Letter says that Mr. Kennedy's performances have fully justified the anticipations raised of their excellence. The entertainments are now here, and illustrate a class of music little known on this coast. The Hall has been crowded, and the audiences have been delighted. Mr. Kennedy announces three performances next week, on the evenings of Monday, Wednesday and Friday, the 10th, 12th and 14th May.

COMPLETED.—The following despatch announces the successful laying of the telegraph cable across Burrard Inlet to connect Moody's Mills with "all the world and the rest of mankind." The enterprise is done at the expense of Moody & Co., but under the superintendence of Mr. F. H. Lamb:

BURRARD INLET, May 28.—The cable between New Westminster and Moody's Mills was laid to-day across Burrard Inlet under the superintendence of F. H. Lamb. The line will be ready for business to-morrow morning.

The photograph contained in the brochure found upon the poor woman who lost her life by the John Bright tragedy, is that of a handsome young brunette of about 18 years, with a round, laughing face and coal-black eyes. Long black ringlets depend from the head and fall gracefully over the shoulders, while a narrow white collar encircles the small white neck and is secured by an elegant brooch. The portrait is said to be that of the Captain's wife, who was cruelly murdered by the Indian upon whom she relied for assistance.

EXPECTED.—George Francis Train, the great martyr, is expected to pay this Colony a visit before returning East. He will be welcomed by a concourse of persons wearing blue coats and metal buttons, and grasping weighty truncheons in their hands, and will be invited to partake of the hospitality of the Colony.

The firemen are summoned, by advertisement, to meet at their respective houses at 8 o'clock this evening for the purpose of joining in procession and proceeding with a band to the residence of Hon. W. A. G. Young, where that gentleman will be serenaded.

The steamer Enterprise sailed at 10 o'clock yesterday morning for New Westminster. She took a fair freight and 20 passengers. Her return is looked for this evening with a Cariboo mail and express.

FROM THE N. W. COAST.—The schooner Lord Raglan arrived from the North West Coast yesterday morning. She reports the Indians quiet and peaceably inclined towards white people.

OUTSIDE.—The ship Macedon was towed down from Burrard Inlet yesterday by the Isabel. She loaded at the B. C. & V. I. mills and will sail in a day or two for Shanghai.

TARIFF COMMISSION.—A meeting of the Tariff Commission will take place next Tuesday.

LIVE DOWN.—The telegraph wires were down all day yesterday South of Seattle.

THERE were no signs of the steamer up to the hour of going to press this morning.

Rotation—Depth of Planting.

From the Prairie Farmer, Wisconsin.

Different plants appropriate different substances. Rotation of crops and suitable manure judiciously applied to his own particular soil, with good clean tillage and good seed, will do more towards enriching the farmer's land and himself, than any other known method; and it is very surprising that this prize, placed so easily within the farmer's reach, is not grasped with a more eager heart and hand.

Another object of the farmer should be to preserve the richness of the soil, and attempt the destruction of all weeds and insects.

As a general thing, the soil is too much overcropped with wheat, and the land is perfectly worn out with this particular grain, and as a natural consequence, all manner of foul and troublesome weeds take its place. Clean cultivation and a rotation of crops is a sad neglect farmer. However plentifully land may be manured, a succession of the same kind of crops should never be grown in the same places. Manure, in the first place, ought to be applied, after which give it a good deep tillage. Plant with corn, next with barley, then wheat, then oats, plowing for wheat in the fall, about half the depth you did for corn; then manure again, plant corn, then barley, and seed to clover. Take off one crop, summer fallow with the next crop, plow again in the fall, and sow to wheat; after which commence as at first to manure, then corn, etc.

Depend upon it, this rotation will keep your land as it ought to be, and yield you rich returns. If you have two or three fields, keep this rotation going on in them all. For instance, the first year you can have corn in one, wheat in another; and the next year, with this rotation you will have a change in them all again.

Wheat never ought to be covered at a greater depth than one inch, oats one and a half inches, and corn two inches. Barley ought to be rolled immediately after sowing and covering; oats, never. Wheat ought to be rolled, if the soil is a rich deep loam; otherwise, not. One and three-fourths bushels of wheat ought to be sown to the acre in old land, or if new, one and a half bushels. Corn ought never to grow with more than four stalks in the hill; three, as a general thing, is better. Potatoes ought to be planted in rows three feet apart, and one piece one foot apart in the row. Hill up only once; do not let the field work prevent you from attending in time to your kitchen garden.

A FARMER.

The Attempt on the Life of the Viceroy of Egypt.

Reuter's news despatch states that the attempt on the life of the Viceroy, on the 2nd of April, which has hitherto been enveloped in such mystery that great doubts have been thrown upon its reality, has now been proved to be an absolute fact. A commission composed of the English, French, Italian and Greek consuls at Cairo, has been nominated to examine into the affair, and their first opinion was that the whole was a fiction; but upon further inquiries they have come to the conclusion that it was actually intended to assassinate, not only the Viceroy, but also his principal ministers and other councillors who would undoubtedly have accompanied him to the theatre. Following are the most authentic facts of the case that have at present transpired. The theatre had been closed for days previously, thus giving the actors in the plot every opportunity for the execution of their plans, which were very simple. The house is built of wood, and the Viceroy's box is nearest to the stage, on the left hand side. His Highness's chair is on a slightly raised platform, and in the floor was found the internal machine, composed of an apothecary's mortar. At the bottom of the mortar was found a layer of gunpowder, above which was a layer of bullets, upon that another layer of powder, and upon the top of all another layer of bullets and small pieces of glass. Between each layer was placed paper, and a large quantity of powder was also strewn about under the raised platform, and so arranged under the main gas pipe that fire could soon have finished the work of destruction. A wick impregnated with some inflammable matter, was then introduced into the mortar, and passing down the wall was hidden sufficiently by the gas pipe to escape observation, while the other end of the wick was attached to a beam near the gas jet in the side scene, where it could easily be ignited. The Committee of Inquiry is still continuing its investigations, but very secretly, and all that has as yet indirectly transpired is that they are on the track of the promoters of the infernal scheme. Another attempt, which has been kept a secret was also made on the Viceroy, Prince Heritier, and his ministers, on April 18th, as they were returning from Tomalia, and it was only owing to the intelligence of the driver of the pilot engine that the attempt failed. About six miles from Cairo the engine exploded a fog-signal that had been placed on the line about a hundred yards from a turning that completely hid from sight the rest of the line on which the Viceroy's train was proceeding. The engine-driver pulled up, but afterwards reflecting that the day was too clear to need the use of fog-signals, started again at full speed, and just in time, as he was only well started when the royal train turned the corner, and an accident would have been inevitable.

The new paper, the Imperialist, which was started in New York city to advocate an Imperial Government in America, seems to be prospering. A report was current last week that the paper had died, in consequence of the refusal of the news companies to circulate it. One of the companies did make such a refusal, but the other continues to put the paper around, so that it is not much inconvenienced after all. The publishers complain that some of the postmasters have thrown the paper out of the mails, on account of its seditious character, but as they have no orders from the Postmaster-General to do this, their action is not likely to be approved. The sale of the paper in this city is not very extensive, though quite as much so as the publishers expected. The Imperialist does not make any assaults upon this administration more than its predecessors. It picks up any and everything that can illustrate its arguments in favor of an Imperial Government for the United States, and somehow it manages to make some strong points. The particular cut that it conceals in its meal tub has not yet been revealed, but that it has a cut is very little doubt. The paper is far less entirely impersonal, no names of publishers or editors have yet been announced. On its imprint it claims to be in the hands of the Imperialist Publishing Company, and this is all that we know of it. Probably some disappointed politicians are at the back of it, and probably, too, there were several disappointed Englishmen engaged to write for its columns, as some of the articles have a decidedly English tone.

CAUTION!

THE FASHIONABLE WORLD and all purchasers of FLORIDA WATER, should be careful to see that they get the true MURRAY & LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER. All other preparations under the name of Florida Water are comparatively worthless; and possess none of the virtues of the genuine article, which is prepared only by Lanman & Kemp, New York, sole proprietors. 533.*

General Debility is Nature's Appeal for Help.

Thousands of persons, without any specific ailment, are the victims of languor and lassitude. The unthinking are apt to confound this species of Inertia, with laziness; whereas it usually arises from a want of organic energy for which the subjects of it are no more responsible than the near-sighted are for their defective vision. Such persons, although they may be free from pain, are as truly invalids, and as much in need of medical aid, as if they were tormented with the pangs of acute disease. They require a TONIC and ALTERNATIVE, that will rouse and regulate their torpid organizations. In cases of this kind, HOPKINS'S STOMACH BITTERS produce an immediate and most favorable effect. The debilitated and desponding valetudinarian, who feels as if he were but half alive; who shuns company, has no relish either for business or pleasure, is metamorphosed, by a brief course of this most potent vegetable invigorant, into quite a different being. The change effected by the BITTERS, in his bodily and mental condition is a surprise to himself and to his friends. He mopes no longer; the active principle of life which seemed to have died out of him is re-awakened, and he feels like a new man. Remembering that debility is not only an affliction itself, but an invitation to disease, no time should be lost in recruiting the broken-down system with this choicest and most potent of all TONICS and NERVINES. 1*

ROWLANDS' three great preparations for the hair, the complexion, and the teeth, are known in all quarters of the globe. Their famous "Macassar Oil" has been counterfeited in France, Germany, and elsewhere, but none of the spurious preparations have possessed the extraordinary properties of the genuine article. Rowland's "Kalydor" for the complexion has retained its prominent place among fashionable cosmetics notwithstanding the numerous new articles introduced for the complexion. The "Odonto" for the teeth is highly prized by thousands who have used no other dentifrice for years. Rowland's great success during the past two generations, and their present prominent position as manufacturers, may justly be attributed to the excellent character of their articles, and to the fact that unlike many other proprietors of established fame, they do not allow their cosmetics to deteriorate in quality. 3*

MALARIA!

Chills and fever, fever and ague, and every kind of intermittent and remittent fever, spring from one cause, viz.: inhalation of malaria, or miasma, which vitates and depraves the biliary secretion, deranges the natural action of the stomach and liver, and produces the above diseases. Bristol's Sarsaparilla and Pills are the surest and safest of all correctors and invigorators of the liver and stomach. They are a certain cure for malaria diseases. 579*

A CLEAN SMOOTH SKIN.

"My blood and humors were in a very bad state; painful sores broke out all over my body and limbs. Seven weeks' use of Bristol's Sarsaparilla and Pills made me a new man, with as clean and smooth a skin as any one could have." J. SMITH, Marysville, 578.

TAKE AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to purify the blood and purge out the humors, pimples, boils and sores which are merely emblems of the rottenness within.

Medical.
French Medicines.
PREPARED BY
GRIMAULT & CO.
Chemists to H. H. Prince Napoleon
PARIS.
These different medicines represent the most recent medical discoveries, founded on the principles of Chemistry and Therapeutics. They must not be confounded with secret or quack medicines, as their names sufficiently indicate their composition; a circumstance which has caused them to be appreciated and prescribed by the Faculty in the whole world. They differ from the usual remedies in that they are the public papers as a rule to cure every possible disease, as they are applicable only to a very few complaints. The most stringent laws exist in France with regard to the sale of medical preparations, and only those which have undergone an examination by the Academy of Medicine and have been proved efficacious, either in the hospitals or in the practice of the first medical men, are authorized by the Government. This fact must be a guarantee for the excellence of Messrs. Grimault & Co.'s Medicines.

DOCTOR LERAS'
(Doctor of Medicine.)
LIQUID PHOSPHATE OF IRON.
The newest and most esteemed medicine in cases of Chlorosis, Paley in the Stomach, Diarrhoea, General Debility and Poverty of Blood.
It is particularly recommended to regulate the functions of nature, and to all kinds of delicate constitution, as well as to persons suffering under every kind of debility whatsoever. It is the preservative of health par excellence, in all warm and relaxing climates.

NO MORE COD LIVER OIL!
Grimault's Syrup of Iodized Horse Radish.
This medicine has been administered with the utmost success in the Hospitals of Paris. It is a perfect substitute for Cod Liver Oil and has been found most beneficial in Diseases of the Chest, Scrofula, Lymphatic
